Dear Manuela

On behalf of the British Coalition for East Timor (BCET), it gives us great pleasure to invite you to a private screening of Kenneth Branagh's new film, "IN THE BLEAK MIDWINTER".

This delightful contemporary comedy celebrates the acting profession with all its passion, humour, drama, naivety and zest for life. "It's a romantic and comedic look at the theatre and at actors with a plot that owes much to the kind of romance and silliness of the old Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland movies", says Branagh.

"IN THE BLEAK MIDWINTER" won this year's Osello D'Oro Award at the Venice Film Festival and will have its UK release in early December.

All proceeds of the screening will be used to assist in funding BCET's support of the East Timorese people in their struggle for self-determination.

BACKGROUND TO THE BRITISH COALITION FOR EAST TIMOR

In the 20 years of illegal occupation by Indonesia, an estimated 200,000 East Timorese (one-third of their population) have died from violence and famine. East Timor - A Brief History is attached to provide you with a more detailed background.

Throughout this period a number of individuals have tirelessly sought to make us aware of this horror. Abhorrence over the killing of more than 100 youths participating in an Independence Demonstration on 12th November 1991 led to the formation of BCET to work for the release of East Timorese political prisoners and an end to the human rights violations by the Indonesian authorities together with a free, fair and peaceful settlement.

BCET requires funding to support their lobbying, publication of newsletters and other activities aimed at increasing awareness by governments and people like ourselves in securing that the East Timorese have the same rights of self determination enjoyed by us.

Our thanks go to The Rank Organisation and Kenneth Branagh for enabling us to screen "IN THE BLEAK MIDWINTER" to help fund a neglected but vital ideal.

We look forward to your support. As there are 500 seats available, we would also be grateful if you could bring friends, family and colleagues.

Yours sincerely

Julie Grattan Graham Bradstreet
